Turkey Asks Berlin to Step up Military Involvement in Syria

BERLIN - Germany must step up its involvement in Syria if it wants to stem the flow of refugees into Europe, Turkey's deputy prime minister Mehmet Simsek in remarks to German daily Die Welt on Saturday. "If Germany and others want to stop the influx of refugees, they must stop the bombings by Syrian and Russian forces against the Syrian opposition," Simsek said, speaking days after 10 German tourists were killed in a suicide attack in Turkey. German Chancellor Angela Merkel will host Turkey's Prime Minister Ahmet Davutoglu for talks next Friday, with discussions to centre on the Istanbul attack and the flow of migrants to Europe. "The origin of terror in Syria is the chaos on the ground, which was caused by the Syrian regime's refusal to authorise democratic reform and the existence of an opposition," Simsek said. Regarding the fight against the Islamic State group, which has been blamed for the Istanbul attack, Simsek said: "No one can ...(More on P4)...(17)

Outlook Horoscope

Aries (Mar. 22-Apr.20)

There's an overload of excitement in the air today, yet you have no way of knowing what might happen next. Contrary to your reputation, you actually enjoy a bit of stability but drudgery can weigh you down, prompting you to crave dramatic change. Although you prefer to call the shots, you're definitely not in charge now.

Taurus (Apr.21-May 20)

People seem to be acting strangely today as if they desire more independence but are too scared to ask for it. You have no reason to prevent anyone from moving forward with his or her life, but your buried insecurities could interfere with your initial reaction. Don't shy away from exploring your own fears now, since there are important lessons to learn about your irrational feelings.

Gemini (May 21-June 20)

Unconventional visions of your future can be upsetting to the status quo, but you can't just stop thinking about them. You might even discover that you enjoy the uncertainty as you're eagerly plotting your next move. Nevertheless, it isn't wise to choose a path too quickly now. Instead, research a variety of alternatives so you can make a well-educated choice. The more options you entertain.

Cancer (June 21-July 20)

A familiar discomfort rises into your awareness now if you respond too impulsively to a sudden change in schedule. Sometimes you miss opportunities because you are overly concerned about making a wrong choice. However, indecisiveness is not your problem today. You're eager to mix things up and follow a different drummer.

Leo (July 21-Aug. 21)

You're likely to lose your temper today if you believe someone is attempting to prevent you from being the captain of your own ship. Or perhaps, your irresponsible behavior might provoke someone else's anger. Either way, extreme feelings are triggered by a deeper energetic imbalance and you won't help the situation by suppressing your emotions.

Virgo (Aug. 22-Sep 22)

People may appear totally irrational now and their inexplicable behavior can be quite unnerving to your well-organized world. However, you have cosmic permission to express your concerns today, even if your disclosure precipitates emotional conflict. Don't spend too much time second-guessing your feelings and reevaluating your alternatives. Your most reliable strategy is to take the bull by the horns and shake everything up; act first and ask questions later.

Libra (Sep 23-Oct. 22)

Taking a much-needed break from your professional responsibilities is prudent today, especially if you have something to show for your recent efforts. Instead of focusing on your long-term goals and ambitions, concentrate on the current dynamics of your personal life. Don't be afraid to express your feelings as directly and succinctly as possible if you're seeking out a new relationship or trying to revitalize an old one.

Scorpio (Oct.23-Nov.22)

You might be in for a big surprise today, even if you're looking to stir up a bit of trouble. But you don't need to seek out any complications, since they will naturally find you. The truth is, problems that erupt into awareness now are simply revealing a significant issue you have been doing your best to avoid. Stop worrying if circumstances get out of hand for a while.

Sagittarius (Nov.23-Dec.20)

You dislike receiving mixed messages because you feel as if you can't respond properly. You love the thrill of flowing along with a swiftly moving current, especially if it's carrying you toward an unknown destination. But your forward movement can still encounter resistance today, which only provokes you to push harder. Unfortunately, you can't progress any faster without running into a detour.

Capricorn (Dec.21-Jan19)

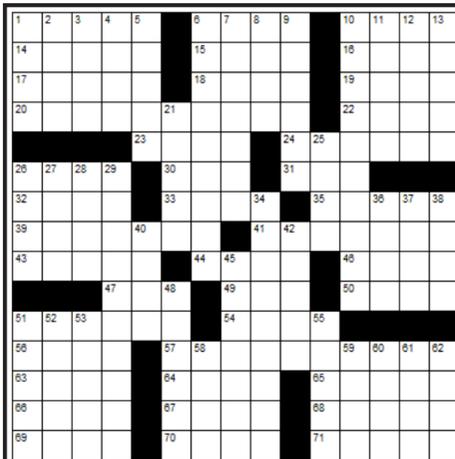

The fevered pace remains steady all day, making it nearly impossible to find respite. Although you're inspired by all the action, you may feel frustrated because you can't resolve an important dilemma now. But don't turn a trivial question into one of ultimate concern just to distract you from the real issues. You don't need any more noise on your plate, so just be quiet and listen to the wisdom of your inner voice.

Aquarius (Jan 20-Feb.18)

You are too impatient to waste time waiting around for others, but you may also have your own delays to handle today. You know you're on the right track, but you can't seem to push things along the way you wish. Unfortunately, you can drive yourself crazy now if you don't change your perspective. Settling back into your comfort zone for a while isn't as unproductive as you think.

Pisces (Feb.19-Mar.20)

You're on a roll today and it might feel like nothing will get in your way. But your morning's enthusiasm can explode into a barrage of angry words if you believe your feelings aren't being respected by your friends or family. However, you won't find a solution through emotional dialogue now; unfortunately, talking about your concerns may only make matters worse. Instead of attempting to force change in others.
